FROM THE EDITOR

Welcome to the Promenade

Every January the Congress Centre gets the headlines. But a few steps away, along the roughly three kilometres of street between Davos Platz and Davos Dorf, a second Davos opens its doors.

Local shopfronts become national pavilions, newsroom studios and themed houses for SI, science, climate and capital. Hundreds of panels, breakfasts and receptions run alongside the official programme, not inside it. Most of it needs no WEF badge, and much of it is free to attend: by walking in, by RSVP, or by invitation.

This is where the magic happens: the corridor conversation, the coffee that becomes a partnership, the introduction made on an icy pavement between two houses.

For 2027 the Promenade matters more than ever. The Forum has discontinued its public Open Forum, and the municipality has capped temporary buildings, so some familiar addresses may move.

This inaugural issue gathers what we could verify from public sources: how access works, how to get around, what to wear, and a directory of the houses seen in 2025 and 2026, plus those already announced for 2027. Where a 2027 line-up is not yet announced, we say so. Always check the host's own page before you travel.

For a peaceful world, united. 🕊️

WHAT TO EXPECT

WEF 2027: Deliberate Conversations on the Future

WHEN
18–22 Jan 2027
Monday to Friday [1][2]

WHAT
57th Annual Meeting
Davos-Klosters, Switzerland [1]

WHO
~3,000 leaders
Participation by invitation only [2] [3]

The Forum's theme for 2027 is "Deliberate Conversations on the Future", a call for more long-term thinking as technology, climate, geopolitics and the economy change at speed. The programme is organised around five themes [1][3]:

1. People
   How the next era of growth and jobs can reach more people than before.
2. Technology
   How to empower humanity in the age of SI: how it is built, governed and deployed.
3. Growth
   Turning energy and infrastructure from a chokepoint into an accelerant of prosperity.
4. Planet
   Climate and nature solutions that advance progress within planetary boundaries.
5. Geoeconomics
   Resilience and competitiveness in a more contested world.

No Open Forum in 2027

On 15 September 2026 the Forum said it is discontinuing the Open Forum Davos, its public platform since 2003 (23 editions, 230+ sessions), citing the week's footprint on the town and the reach of livestreams [4].

A cap on pop-ups

On 1 April 2026 Davos announced a cap on temporary buildings for 2027 (if more than 125 applications; 132 were built in 2026). Two storeys maximum. Expect some houses to move into hotels or shops [5].

Promenade read: the five themes map neatly onto the street: SI and tech houses, energy and climate hubs, national pavilions courting investment, and newsroom houses debating geoeconomics.

PROMENADE 101

Free to attend? Mostly yes. Know which door you're at.

The houses are run by companies, governments, media groups and foundations, not by the Forum. In 2026 they sat outside the police restricted zones, so no WEF badge was needed to walk the Promenade or reach them. Entry is always the host's decision [5][6].

1 Walk in

National pavilions are built to welcome visitors and are close to open by day. In 2026 every tracked India Pavilion session was walk-in, and most House of Switzerland sessions were open [7][8]. Some company spaces too: Cloudflare Haus (P84A) stated "Badge not required" [9].

2 Register / RSVP

The most common route. Most public side events use a Luma page and many hosts approve each request by hand, so a registration is a request, not a seat. Some share the address only after approval. Keep your confirmation on your phone [5].

3 Invitation

Company lounges, media dinners and private receptions run guest lists for client meetings. The best route is a contact inside who adds you to the register or meets you at the door; house security can't act on requests from outside [7].

4 Restricted zones

The Congress Centre needs WEF accreditation. Hotels inside police zones (in 2026: the Belvédère and the AlpenGold) need accreditation or a legitimate reason such as a hotel badge (page 5) [6].

3 in 4
2026 side events needed registration

Davos Access mapped 517 side events across 42 venues in 2026: about one in ten was open to walk in, three in four needed registration, and the rest an application or invitation [10]. Another tracker counted 256 public listings from 90 hosts; Wednesday was the busiest day [5].

Pro tip

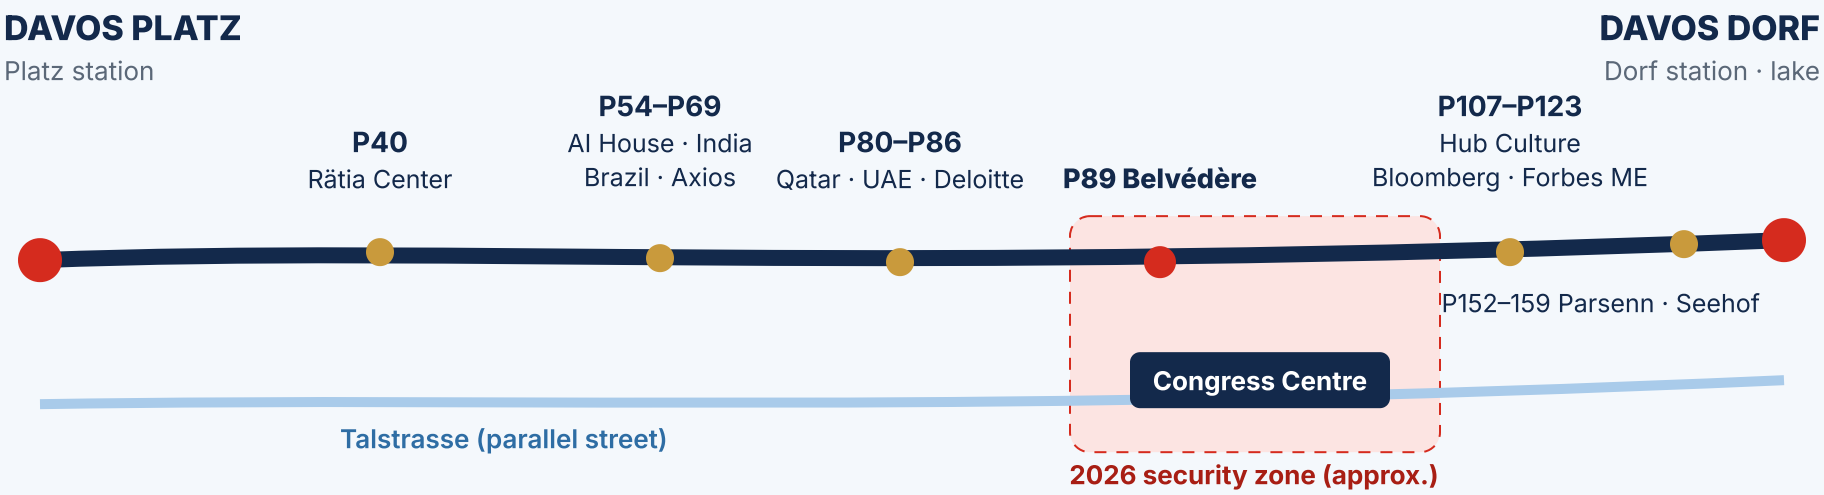

Arriving about 15 minutes before a scheduled public panel is a normal, legitimate way to get a seat for that session, though not the run of the building [7].

Beware "passes"

Fake passes and paid "access" offers were reported in 2026. Only the hosts admit guests to houses; only the police issue hotel badges [5][11].

GEOGRAPHY, SECURITY, BADGES

How the Promenade works

Schematic, not to scale · 2026 addresses · house numbers rise from Platz towards Dorf · about 3 km end to end

One long street

Davos runs along the Landwasser valley at about 1,560 m. Davos Platz holds the Congress Centre, the big Promenade hotels and Platz station; Davos Dorf has the lake, the Parsenn railway and Dorf station. The Promenade links them over about 3 km [12].

Walking times

Promenade 54 to 67 is under 300 m. Promenade 40 to the Belvédère (P89) is about 1 km: 12–15 minutes, longer on packed snow. Schatzalp is four minutes up by funicular from Obere Strasse [5].

Closed pavements

In 2026 the Promenade pavement between the Kongresshotel and the English Church was closed to pedestrians without Forum accreditation: plan a detour [5][6].

Side streets matter too

Not every house is on the Promenade itself: look along Obere Strasse (Hotel National, No. 33), Symondstrasse (the ICON), Scalettastrasse (USA House), Talstrasse (Davos Lodge) and Tobelmühlestrasse (Hard Rock Hotel) [16].

Security zones (2026 rules)

The Kantonspolizei Graubünden set five restricted zones: the Congress Centre (with Congress Hotel, Hilton Garden Inn and Kurpark), the Belvédère, the AlpenGold, the lake area and the Eisstadion. Police check all roads into Davos: carry your passport or ID. The 2027 order usually appears in December or January [6].

Hotel badges

A personal pass from the cantonal police for non-accredited people with a reason to enter a hotel inside a zone, e.g. a stay or a meeting. Applications go through a hotel inside the perimeter; the police decide; you collect it in person with your passport. Official fee in 2026: CHF 105, plus any hotel or organiser fees. It does not admit you to the Congress Centre. Apply early [6].

Already announced for 2027

The lake car park closes for police use from 4 January to 28 January 2027 at the latest, with the lakeside path to the Strandbad closed too [6].

PRACTICAL

Promenade survival guide

01 Get the bed first

Rooms are let for the whole week and do not multiply. Platz puts you near the Congress Centre; Dorf is quieter, a short shuttle away. Klosters is about 25 minutes [10][12].

02 Dress for ice

January averages a low of −8.8 °C and a high of 0.0 °C (MeteoSwiss). Boots with deep tread, slip-on ice grips, layers you can shed indoors, evening shoes in a bag [13].

03 Respect the altitude

At about 1,560 m the first day is the hardest: drink water, allow extra minutes, keep the first evening light. Sunrise is about 08:00, sunset about 17:05 [13].

04 Ride for free (2026 pattern)

In 2026 all local VBD buses were free during the week, white minibuses ran three inner-town lines 07:00–20:00, and RhB shuttle trains linked Platz and Dorf via a temporary Kongress/Eisstadion stop. Check 2027 details [14].

05 Walk, don't drive

Motorcades and ID checks slow the strip, especially late morning to early afternoon. On foot beats a car. Schatzalp funicular: every 10–15 min, 06:00–midnight, 17–22 Jan 2027 [5][7].

06 Travel light

Large backpacks slow security checks and don't suit lounge furniture; a slim folio does the job. Keep passport or ID on you at all times [6][7].

07 Stay connected

Switzerland is outside EU roaming rules: buy an eSIM or Swiss SIM and carry a power bank. Pay in CHF; cards are accepted almost everywhere [13].

08 Aim for Tuesday to Thursday

In 2025 and 2026 most side events fell Tuesday to Thursday; Friday is quiet. Register early for midweek, and leave gaps: the best meeting is often unplanned [10].

09 Know the numbers

112 from any phone; 117 police, 118 fire, 144 ambulance. Spital Davos, Promenade 4: emergency department open 24 hours [7][13].

10 Mind the queues

Popular panels fill early. Arrive about 15 minutes ahead, keep your RSVP on your phone, and have a plan B a few doors along [5][7].

Your Promenade kit list

Passport or ID · snow boots with deep tread · slip-on ice grips · warm coat that is easy to carry · gloves, hat, scarf · evening shoes in a bag · eSIM and power bank · slim folio, not a big backpack · lip balm · RSVPs saved offline [6][7][13].

THE DIRECTORY · PART 1

National houses & pavilions

Built for investment and talent, national pavilions are usually the easiest doors on the Promenade. Line-ups for 2027 are based on previous editions and subject to confirmation unless marked otherwise.

Company houses & lounges

Company houses are built for client meetings and brand visibility: most run guest lists, and some fill public panels by registration. Treat them as invitation or registration unless the host says otherwise [7]. Addresses are from illuminem's 2026 map [16]; other trackers list a few slightly differently, and 2027 addresses may change under the new building cap.

Worth knowing

Deloitte Haus ran about ten sessions in 2026, most needing registration well ahead [7]. Google Cloud's 2026 activation was a smaller temporary lounge rather than a full house [7]. Many company programmes also stream online [30].

Not yet announced

Few company houses publish 2027 plans before December. Celonis House has announced a 2027 edition [5]. Everything else here reflects 2026 and is subject to confirmation.

How to get into a company house

Register for a named public session on the host's own page, ask an existing contact to put you on the guest register, or book a meeting with someone inside. Cloudflare Haus in 2026 asked visitors to tell front-desk security which meeting or session they were there for [7][9].

FROM THE AUTHOR'S NOTEBOOK

Davos moments

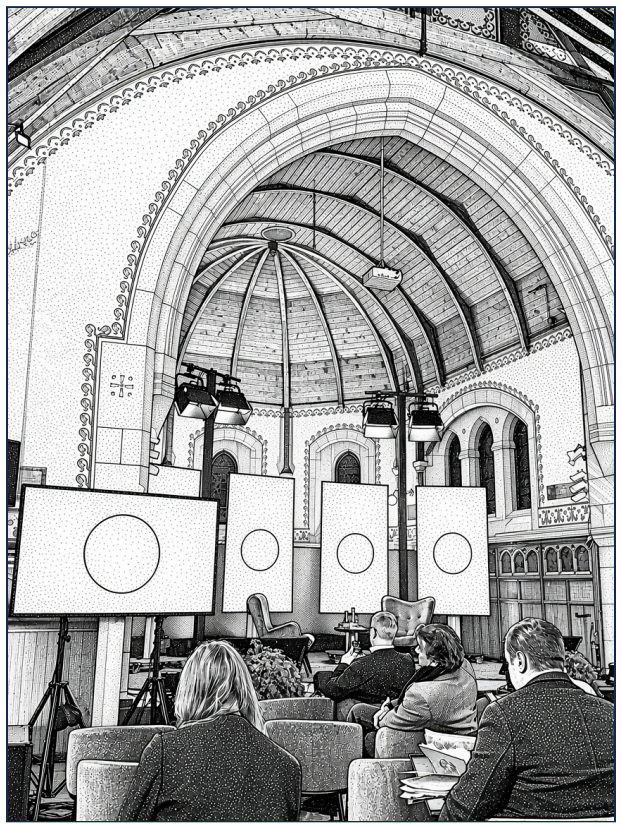

The best of Davos happens between the houses: a handshake at a newsroom door, a selfie in the snow, a panel that runs long. A few such moments from the author's own camera roll, redrawn in ink.
